3. History

14/12/2020

This started a long time ago, when a species from a different planet invaded the earth seeking for precious minerals and fuel. At the beginning, humans tried to fight back, but the powerful creatures seemed to be immortals. With time, many people die and those who survived moved to the mountains, away from those ruthless creatures.

This is how I got to my village, a small refuge formed by a group of people that manage to escape from the cities and seek shelter in the mountains.

A month ago the earthquakes started. It looked like all the earth was shaking.

Last week someone came to our village and explained to us what was the cause of those earthquakes. He told us that these creatures were going to destroy the whole earth in their search for fuel.

26/02/2035

In the last year cracks of lava have appeared all over the earth. It seems like there is not much time left.

A few weeks ago an old boy told us that there was a way to make these creatures leave the earth and never come back. Some group of survivors has created a bomb and carried it to the center of these creatures' bases. Detonating this bomb, all his equipment and supplies would be destroyed, forcing them to go back to their planet.

These survivors were caught while trying to detonate this bomb. However, the bomb was kept in secret and is still in the same place they placed it. In the following days, I will start my journey to finish their job.

Now

Yesterday I left the village in direction to the base camp of these creatures. It is going to be really complicated and dangerous. But it's the only option left.

4. Blink to Prince of Persia / Broderbund (1990)

The story says that there was a young boy that lived in ancient Persia and managed to defeat the wizard Jaffar and save the empire of Persia, not allowing Jaffar to become the new sultan. The tale says that this young boy would later marry the sultan's daughter and become the new sultan of Persia. During his reign, the boy was fair and humble and did good for his country until the day of his death. From that moment until the day the invaders arrived to the earth, his body rested in the palace where he lived his life.

The invaders decided that they wouldn't exterminate all life on earth. Instead, they would preserve a sample of what one day was the human race, but change his mind to make him work for them. The history of this young boy of the ancient persia got to them and decided to use their advanced technology to revive him. However, I no longer was the fair and courageous leader he was just to be.
